

Job Searching with a Record

Are you looking for work and think your criminal convictions or arrest record is getting in the way? Learn how to responsibly and non-defensively talk about the past so employers will focus on your skills and future potential as an employee. Hear what employers say about hiring applicants with convictions, and learn about hiring incentives businesses might be eligible for if you are hired. Learn about Wisconsin Employment Laws regarding arrest and conviction records, and learn effective job search techniques to shorten the time "between jobs."
